Foreword

It is my pleasure to present the Uganda Police Force Annual Crime Report for 2023 so as to account to the population on how the Uganda Police Force is fulfilling its mandate as stipulated under Article 212 of the Constitution of the Republic of Uganda.

In 2023, we note that there was a 1.5% decrease in the number of crimes reported to Police from 231,653 cases reported in 2022 to 228,074 cases. I take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to those who were able to lodge their complaints at various stations of the Uganda Police Force in the year 2023. It is these reported complaints that enable us compile Annual Crime Reports.

Relatedly, the force has focused on strengthening discipline and adherence to human rights by introducing disciplinary courts in all districts across the country. The introduction of disciplinary courts marks a significant milestone for the Uganda Police Force. These courts aim at enforcing discipline within the force, ensuring that officers adhere to professional standards and human rights. For instance, out of 933 complaints of human rights violations by the police, 794 were thoroughly investigated.

Additionally, the force has been committed to improving the conditions in detention facilities. The remodeling of ten facilities in various districts, including Panyadoli, Kiryandongo, Paidha, Maracha, Yumbe, Atiak, and Kololo, has led to the elimination of the soil bucket system, providing 68% coverage of waterborne toilets.

Also, the police, in coordination with sister security agencies such as the UPDF, Prisons, SFC, JIC (CMI, ISO, CI, and ESO), JATT, combated various forms of crime. These joint initiatives have resulted in the reduction of gun-related crimes, illegal firearms and ammunition proliferation, terrorism, gang activities, marine crimes, housebreaking, burglaries, acid attacks, motor vehicle thefts, and cattle raids in Karamoja and neighboring districts, among others.

Our success has been due to the hard work of the police in coordination with sister security agencies, the reorganisation of the CID (Criminal Investigations Directorate), improved detection and investigation methods, and the establishment of a proactive network of credible intelligence. Furthermore, our strategic partnerships with the community, including the involvement of other intelligence components have greatly contributed to disrupting and dismantling criminal elements targeting our country.

I therefore express my gratitude to H.E. The President of Uganda, Retired Gen. Yoweri Kaguta Museveni for his guidance and enduring support to the Force. I also thank the Minister of Internal Affairs Maj. Gen. (Rtd) Kahinda Otafire and his entire team at the Ministry Headquarters for their stewardship throughout the year.

Despite considerable challenges faced and violent acts by groups like ADF, the Uganda Police Force has remained dedicated to its mission. The force has also worked extensively on resolving cases related to domestic violence, land conflicts, armed robberies, and attacks on schools, thereby bringing justice to those affected. Besides, one of the key unresolved cases of the assassination of Joan Kagezi was resolved.

Furthermore, I commend the increased cooperation of Police with the Office of the DPP, the Judiciary, and other partners within the criminal justice system. This collaboration has resulted in notable convictions in cases involving child sacrifice, human trafficking and violent murders among others.

The Uganda Police Force is proud of the achievements made in 2023, including the implementation of the sub-county policing model in Greater Masaka, the establishment of call response centers, and the expansion of motorcycle squads. These initiatives have contributed to a more visible and effective police presence across the country.

As we focus on future policing, there are critical areas that the institution must address. These include among others;

1. Improving the general welfare of the personnel.

2. Conducting specialized trainings.

3. Carrying out more recruitments to address the Police Population ratio

4. Digitalizing the Human Resource Management system as well as improving scientific innovations in investigations to counter emerging crimes such as cyber, environmental, terrorism and trafficking in persons.

As I conclude, I thank the Director CID and all those involved in organizing this occasion.

With the above remarks, I take this singular honor to launch the Uganda Police Force Annual Crime Report for 2023

From January to December 2023, 1,820 expert reports were issued, 181,384 Police Clearance Certificates and 39,041 crime scenes processed, an increase from 25,552 crime scenes in 2022. As part of the ePIS project, the Identification Bureau established under the Identification of Offenders Act (CAP 119) is poised to be digitised into an Electronic Identification Bureau (eIB). In addition, stakeholders in the criminal justice system are in final discussions to strengthen and improve data quality and standardisation to enhance coordination system(s) on crime and criminal justice statistics. This will further enhance the importance of forensic records in the wider administration of justice.

The Integrated Ballistic Information System (IBIS) has been able to link thirty (30) firearms to eighty-six (86) gun related incidents. Five (05) of these firearms were legally registered while a total of twenty- five (25) were illicitly acquired by criminals. In Old Kampala Division, an individual Glock pistol with brand mark UG IND LTY514 02324 registered to Kadala Nsubuga Mustafa was linked to five (05) robberies in the period under review. As of 18 December 2023, 92.2% of all legally issued firearms to Police, Prisons, Private Security and Privately owned firearms had been "fingerprinted" in accordance with H.E. The President's directive issued in 2018 to document all firearms on IBIS.

In the cases involving attacks on police stations and security personnel, IBIS was instrumental in availing the required forensic intelligence in pursuit of perpetrators many of whom are before courts of law and court martial. In the period under review, the Ballistics & Toolmarks team received a total of 276 requests for analysis and was able to process all cases with a lead-time of 14 working days. However, there was a 19.4% increase in the number of requests received for firearm examination compared to 2022.

7.1. CANINE UNIT

Uganda Police Canine Unit is a specialised Unit that works hand in hand with other Departments of Police to prevent, Detect and Investigate crime. The Unit also gives support functions to the anti-narcotics Department by providing narcotics Detection Dogs at Entebbe International Airport and other border points with Explosive Detection Dogs to the Directorate of Counter Terrorism. Since 2010, the Unit undertook an ambitious expansion program to ensure that every Police Station around the Country has at least two (02) Sniffer Dogs. This expansion was achieved through Operationalisation of a breeding and Training program at Nagalama.

The percentage coverage of the Canine Unit in the Uganda Police Force countrywide is 46%.

8.1. COMMUNITY POLICING

During the year 2023, community mobilisation and sensitisation were conducted including through 2,417 radio talk-shows, 141 TV Talk-shows and 1,314 school outreaches. Community policing were conducted in all districts/divisions and as at the end of November 2023, community policing activities were extended to 8,894 villages countrywide.

Community Policing was conducted in prone regions in Greater Masaka, North Kyoga, Rwizi, Aswa East, Busoga East, West Nile and North West Nile in the Districts/Divisions of Kalungu, Masaka, Lira, Oyam, Kole, Ibanda, Kazo, Kitgum, Pader, Agago, Bugiri, and Bidi bidi, Rhino, Imvepi, Palorinya, Lobule and Panyadoli refugee settlements.

To strengthen the police-community relations and bridge the communication gaps between the police and refugees, 30 (5F) Language Assistants from Bidi Bidi, Rhino, Imvepi, Palorinya and Lobule refugee settlements were recruited and trained on language translation and interpretation.

In line with the government decision on the need to bring services nearer to the people, especially through the sub-county model of policing, 40 community liaison officers (CLOs) were recruited, trained and deployed at all sub-counties in Greater Masaka region to conduct community policing at the local levels. The same approach will be adopted and rolled out to all the remaining 27 regions. The induction and deployment of the new officers raises the number of CLOs in the country to 284 officers (including 48 females), which is still inadequate.

Concerted efforts were taken to enhance customer-friendly services to the citizens and in that regard, 98 (31F) police officers in the Savannah region were trained on complaint management, feedback and accountability mechanisms.

8.2. INFORMATION AND PUBLICATION

Endeavours were made to popularise policing programs and to profile and compile good institutional practices (best practices) including through the publication of Quarterly Police Habari Magazines, books and journals on police-community related programmes and activities.

The information published quarterly helped in Traffic Management to control carnage, Pacification of Karamoja through Joint security operations, fighting Trafficking in person and Bridging the Gap between UPF and the Public by giving the public information needed to respond and prevent crime in the community.

8.3. POLITICAL EDUCATION

Ideological Rectification campaigns for mindset change and ethical policing were conducted in West Nile, KMP, Kiira, Busoga East, Busoga North, Albertine, Elgon, Bukedi South, Sipi, Gulu west, Great Bushenyi and Rwenzori west in the Districts/Divisions of Iganga, Tororo, Busia, Mbale, Bugiri, Kamuli, Kaliro, Buyende, Rubirizi, Mitoma, Bushenyi, shema, Fortportal, Ntoroko, Hoima, Masindi, Gulu west, Gulu North, Gulu CPS, Nwoya, Nebbi, Ayivu West, Ayivu East, Arua, Nagalama, Entebbe and Mukono.

As a way of rejuvenating the ideological Barazas, Political commissars nominated by the Unit commanders were also inducted at Kibuli Police Training school. A total of 39 Officers (9F) were inducted to help in enhancing patriotism, nationalism and ethical policing rooted in the UPF core values through Barazas at the Respective Police Districts and Divisions.

Ideological Barazas were also rejuvenated in the specialized units of KMP specifically VIPPU CT and Marines. 556 Police personnel were in attendance during these Barrazas.

Barracks action teams were established and oriented to handle all issues involving spouses and families of police officers resident in the barracks. CRIME PREVENTION & REDUCTION

9.1. STRATEGIES FOR CRIME PREVENTION AND REDUCTION

The UPF continues to contribute towards reducing crime in society through the following broad strategies.

a. Ensuring institutional functionality

UPF is in the process of reviewing its doctrine, posture, practices, procedures to ensure that its level of functionality meets public expectation. Key among these reforms is the reorganisation of deployment of resources based on the sub-county policing model that shall ensure existence of basic capacity to counter crime in each of the sub-counties.

b. Enhancing Community Policing

This does not only enhance the functionality of the Police force but also empowers the community to identify and report criminal activity in addition to supporting and monitoring the work of law enforcement agencies leading to a reduction in crime.

c. Strengthening investigations and crime inteligence

The strategies aimed at enhancing crime inteligence and investigations are targeting improving the turnaround time and the quality of inquiries:

i) Digitisation

Automation of processes will improve efficiency across the UPF. This is to start with the digitisation of the investigation process right from when a crime is reported to when a convict has completed service of a sentence. It shall ease reporting, detection, tracking, supervision, follow-up and analysis of crime which will improve both crime prevention and investigation besides saving institutional resources that can then be applied elsewhere.

ii) Recruitment of more detectives

The detective case load stands at 1 detective to 39 cases which is high compared to the UN recommended ratio of 1 detective to 12 cases which affects both the quality and speed of investigations. To mitigate this, more detectives are to be recruited into CID as the UPF strength grows.

iii) Gaps in the justice chain

Gaps in the justice chain adversely affect successful and timely conclusion of investigations and securing convictions. The UPF will continue to advocate for a system – wide improvement across the justice chain.

iv) Skilling

Training of detectives needs to be continuous so as to stay ahead of the criminals. In addition to the basic training, a CID training facility for specialised courses is to be set up.

v) Tooling

The force is devising means to make available all the basic forms and books key to the conduct of inquiries. It also intends to provide specialised equipment to support investigations.

vi) Gaps in funding and mobility

In order to address the case backlog, a deliberate effort to fund investigations is a priority. This will include mobility and financial enhancement to crime inteligence, investigations and counter terrorism.

iv. Better management of exhibits

The manner in which exhibits are presently managed adversely affects inquiries and the quality of evidence tendered in Court. In addition to development of manuals on exhibit management, the force is establishing exhibit yards at the regional level so as to ensure that the integrity of exhibits is not compromised.

v. Continued emphasis on Prosecution led investigations

Prosecution-guided investigations should result in more focused inquiries and hence efficiency and better evidence. Collaboration with the Office of the DPP, Auditor General, Attorney General, IGG, Judiciary, Prisons, and other key stakeholders in the justice sector shall be enhanced to improve performance.

f. Review and documentation of procedures

In order to address the various gaps in the system and to accommodate many of the innovations adopted, the UPF will undertake a review of all practices and procedures to ensure compliance/compatibility. Good practices are to be documented in procedure manuals.

g. Enhanced application of science in investigations

UPF is continually integrating the use of science in investigations to support traditional methods of relying on witnesses and confessions. The scientific tools include CCTV cameras, application of forensic science, canine, telephone tracking equipment etc. The plan is to have these widely available across the country fully manned by personnel who can exploit them maximumly.

h. Training and Capacity Building

UPF continues to undertake several trainings at both strategic, operational and tactical levels to enhance performance. However, gaps in training remains a challenge.

i. Improvement of welfare

The UPF intends to provide a decent working environment, decent accommodation, reasonable remuneration, basic medical care, education for children of personnel, psychosocial support, enhancement of family income among others all aimed at raising personnel morale.

j. Budget

The finances presently provided to the UPF are inadequate. The UPF therefore is going to continue to engage and lobby all stakeholders both within and outside government to increase allocation of resources to the force.
